Reserve Forces Policy Board (RFPB)

Congressional Statute: Title 10, United States Code, Section 10301

Mission: The RFPB shall serve as an independent adviser to the Secretary of Defense to provide advice and recommendations to the Secretary on strategies, policies, and practices designed to improve and enhance the capabilities, efficiency, and effectiveness of the reserve components.

- The RFPB acts independently to monitor, review and evaluate proposals, actions and situations impacting the National Guard and Reserve forces and, as provided in 10 USC 113, reports annually (transmitted by the Secretary of Defense) to the President and Congress.
- Independent entity that closely coordinates with Assistant Secretary of Defense for Reserve Affairs, but not within the organizational structure.

Composition:

- RFPB consists of 20 members, including the Chairman, Senior Military Executive, Senior Enlisted Advisor, representatives from each of the seven Reserve & National Guard Components as well as 10 at-large members selected from both civilian and military communities.

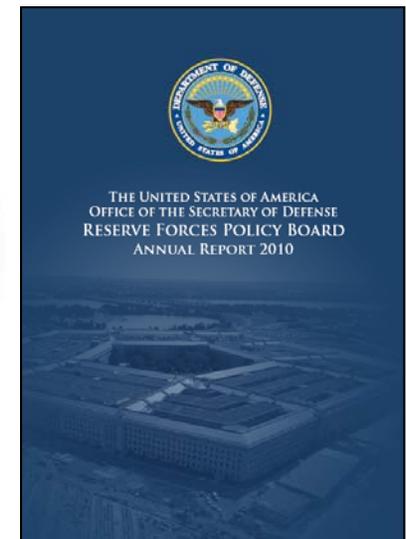

Serving in a position of Trust and Confidence for 60 years:

- The RFPB has been a valued advisory group to the Secretary of Defense since June 1951.
- Just as the military has evolved to meet the challenges of the 21st Century, the RFPB's transition will better address the challenges of the Operational Reserve component of the Total Force.
- At-large members facilitate input by relevant stakeholders such as families, employers, and caregivers.

14 June 1951
